TUM Mentoring

In 4 TUM Mentoring programmes, TUM alumni share their experience with students, doctoral candidates or (young) professionals.

- Mentoring Classic: A year to shape the future
- Mentoring for Scientists: Challenges in science
- Mentoring Professional: Alumni help Alumni
- Mentoring JobTalk: One question – one talk

www.community.tum.de/en/mentoring

This is mentoring

- ✓ Support & encouragement
- ✓ Sharing experiences & knowledge
- ✓ Personality development
- ✓ Active networking
(tandem relationship & events)

Mentoring is NOT

- ...a service (→ Appreciate the voluntary commitment!)
- ...a substitute for coaching or professional counselling
- ...a lifelong commitment
- ...a job placement

How to join TUM Mentoring?

Mentoring Programs

TUM Mentoring Classic

At TUM Mentoring Classic, students and doctoral candidates are encouraged to ask for one year. They are available for their questions and support from individuals in their personal development.

Information for Mentors

TUM Mentors Jochen Hagemann and TUM Mentee

TUM Mentoring JobTalk

The JobTalk is a short mentoring one question – one conversation. Students and doctoral candidates and career questions, alumni contribute their assessments and experiences. They get into contact in a brief and structured way by phone, video or personally.

Information for Mentors

TUM Mentors

TUM Mentoring for Scientists

Mentoring for Scientists connects doctoral students and postdocs with experienced Research Assistants and post-docs. The focus is on personal exchange, between researchers at different career levels.

TUM Mentoring Classic for Mentees

TUM Alumna Jaimie Lu and TUM Mentor Markus Haringer (Picture: Magdalena Jooss/TUM)

For whom?

3rd semester Bachelor students and up, Master students and doctoral students

Who are the mentors?

Alumni willing to share their expertise with you over a longer period of time.

How does it work?

As soon as a mentor has confirmed, we will contact you by email. The more informative and expressive your profile is, the easier it will be to win one of our alumni over to take on your mentorship. Should you after a first meeting decide to start the mentoring year together, you will define the framework of your mentorship in an agreement.

Duration?

1 year

Mentoring at TUM

TUM offers a wide variety of mentoring programs to prospective students, undergraduates, doctoral students and experienced alumni from science and business.

Photo: Regenera, Jussuf TUM

Use these offers to further develop your personality, discover new skills and expand your personal network. In all programs, a personal mentor is available to assist you over a certain period of time.

TUM Mentoring from Alumni for students and doctoral candidates

TUM alumni support and advise TUM students and doctoral candidates for one year. If you take advantage of this offer, you can become a mentee or mentor.

TUM Mentoring JobTalk

JobTalk is a short mentoring session where students can ask concrete questions. Alumni answer and contribute their assessments and experiences. One question – one talk!

TUM Mentoring for Scientists

International guest researchers share their know-how and experience with young researchers at TUM. Take advantage of this unique opportunity – register as a science mentee.

TUM Emeriti of Excellence Mentoring for young scientists (post-docs, TUM Junior Fellows) and members of TUM Junior Academic. As a scientist, take advantage of the opportunity of individual support for your career through the TUM Emeriti of Excellence.

Start-up Mentoring

The Start-up Mentoring of TUM supports start-ups specifically in the phase of market entry.

Women of TUM

Hey, hallo and welcome! We are the Women of TUM – an inclusive, lively network for all women* affiliated with TUM. We are female students, researchers and industry professionals who regularly gather for events and meetups to connect across continents, generations, hierarchical levels and disciplines. It is our aim to provide a platform for the incredible women of TUM, that increases our visibility in the public eye, strengthens the role of women in the working world, and thus establishes role models for future generations.
